___At Brennwagen, 2015 is the year for new and innovative solutions for BBQ aficionados - with the unbending Brennwagen commitment to cutting-edge technology and premium workmanship. The Cologne-based BBQ designers present the results of their labours at this year's outdoor lifestyle expo in Cologne: Stand-alone solutions and all-new built-in models, answering the needs of BBQ fans who want different options to grace their tabletops, outdoor kitchens, or patios. Experience the new models live at spoga+gafa 2015, hall 7, D-035, between 30 August and 1 September 2015.

___Cologne, August 2015: The outdoor lifestyle expo spoga+gafa 2015 is set to open its gates and Brennwagen - the Cologne-based maker of premium-class BBQs - will be on pole position, showcasing two "resident? BBQ solutions that are sure to raise the pulses of BBQ enthusiasts everywhere: The versatile stand-alone models and the new built-in BBQs.

___Stand-alone solutions - on the table, on the side, or on the go

At a slender 40 x 56 cm, the small stand-alone models of the Brennwagen BBQ stables promise a new level of flexibility for the BBQ season, be it as a low-key table-top option, on the go, or the perfect sidekick for the big Brennwagen brother.

Four stand-alone models are now part of the Brennwagen stables: a traditional charcoal BBQ, a wok and a gas-fired model, optionally with slow burners or two infrared high-temperature burners - for a sizzling 1,000°. A stand-alone tray adds even more versatility to the range. All stand-alone models come with adjustable feet - and come with the same uncompromising commitment to quality as the mobile Brennwagen hotrods.

___New: Built-In BBQ - Premium barbecues gracing outdoor kitchens on patios and balconies

Outdoor cooking is becoming an increasingly popular option. That is why Brennwagen is launching a new built-in model of its favourite GT Series: with the same power and equipment as its mobile sister, in a traditional charcoal or gas version, but with the Brennwagen mobility system replaced with four fully adjustable feet.

___About Brennwagen

The Cologne-based BBQ maker Brennwagen was founded in 2010 by the former Formula 1TM engineer Florian Wagner. His "hot rods? have been wowing customers the world over ever since - from private connoisseurs and BBQ masters to Michelin-starred chefs. Brennwagen BBQs combine exclusive materials with exacting workmanship standards and individual designs, handmade in Germany. The Brennwagen stables include models of all types and sizes, coal and gas-fired, with and without the Brennwagen mobility package, and with many special solutions like smokers, wok inserts and Brennwagen-brand BBQ equipment to mobile kitchen modules or even complete custom designs. With the Brennwagen configurator and a dedicated team, even the most surprising design ideas can be made flaming hot reality.
